GATE

for our trek around our seventy-six-acre campus

Until the government abandoned the Arsenal, a soldier stood guard at the gate.

Let's take a tour of Tech

A SCHOOL RICH IN TRADITION

MANY OF THE ORIGINAL government buildings were erected in the late sixties and early seventies for the state had chosen these beautiful woodland acres early in the 1860's for a new arsenal.

While we stroll over this spacious campus, I'll tell you about the teachers, classes, and activities in each of the thirteen buildings along the tour.

But first I want to give you a little background history, for our school and campus are rich in tradition. I'll tell you some interesting stories of things that happened when these grounds were used as a government arsenal, when the Winona Technical Institute was here, and when our own school was founded.

Students and faculty hurry along Senior Walk on their way to the lunchroom and to class.

OUR CAMPUS was a beautiful seventy-six-acre forest when in 1862, Governor Morton chose it as a state arsenal. Captain T. I. Treadwell, first commanding officer, preserved every tree he could to keep the beauty of the grounds. As a result, the school has still a small portion of the original primeval forest.

In 1903, when the government abandoned this site and offered it for sale, citizens raised the purchase price of $154,000; and the deed, which stated that the grounds could be used only for educational purposes, was given to a designated citizens' committee. Neighbors missed hearing the cannon boom at sunrise and sunset for they had set their clocks by it.

Winona Technical Institute was the first to take advantage of this educational opportunity. This private organization consisted of trade schools, some of which were Pharmacy, Library Practice, and Printing.

Although many prominent citizens contributed in an attempt to endow this organization, because of financial difficulties the school, which had been opened in 1904, failed in 1909.

Suit was brought by donors to force the land to be sold for repayment of their investments, but the suit was lost. Then the property was leased to the Board of School Commissioners.

In 1912, because of overcrowded conditions at Shortridge and Manual Training High Schools, Milo H. Stuart, then principal of Manual, chose the Arsenal for an overflow school.

On September 11, one hundred eighty-three freshmen enrolled in this new school which had eight teachers and which occupied the second floor of the Arsenal building.

During the first four years, while awaiting the court decision, the school ran on a weekly basis for the lease could be withdrawn on five days' notice. Mr. Stuart divided his time between the two high schools.

On May 22, 1916, the Indiana Supreme Court gave the Board of School Commissioners the perpetual deed of trust; and since then, that day has been celebrated as Supreme Day.

Those first difficult years developed loyalty, industry, co-operation, good fellowship, and a school spirit that have never been lost. The school was so small that has been our principal since 1937.

all pupils knew each other. Boys enjoyed snake hunting for the heavily wooded grounds had many little snakes. It was a common sight to see boys chase frightened girls with the snakes, dead or alive.

On warm days, pupils ate under the trees, for "The groves were Tech's first lunchroom." Sandwiches and soup were dispensed at the "Beanery," which was the Guard House.

Mr. Stuart was relieved of his dual responsibility in 1916 to devote his entire time to Tech; and under his guidance, this four-year-old school developed into a nationally known comprehensive high school.

Eighteen years Mr. Stuart devoted to Tech, until November, 1930, when he was appointed assistant superintendent of schools in charge of secondary school education. This position he filled until his death in 1933.

Tech has been fortunate in that it has had only three principals: Mr. Stuart, DeWitt S. Morgan, and Hanson H. Anderson.

Mr. Morgan, second principal, was well fitted for this responsibility for since 1916 he had served as a history teacher, head of the History department, and vice-principal. Following the death of the superintendent in 1937, Mr. Morgan was named to this position, which he filled until his death in 1944.

Mr. Anderson, present principal, has also made his mark in the development of the school, having devoted all of his time since 1912, except for his years of military service, to our school. One of the original eight Tech teachers, later he was head of the Math department; then vice-principal; and when Mr. Morgan left, he became principal.

Mr. Morgan, our second principal, was known as an author and lecturer.

On the keystone tower archway is the date, 1865, the year the Arsenal was completed.

This is our oldest building, the Arsenal

IT'S THE CENTER of the school, the most popular, and, at times, the most dreaded spot on the campus, especially when we're late—we get tardy slips here.

Quite a change has taken place since the days when this Arsenal was used originally to store guns and ammunition; and during the Spanish-American War when haversacks and blanket bags were made here. Then it was "Education for War"; today, it is "Education for World Peace."

Our famous clock is in the tower. Would you believe that the faces are six feet in diameter? The front steps are a favorite meeting place during lunch hours. Here boys and girls gather to chat with old friends as well as to meet new ones.

Here's the main office

LET'S GO IN and see the principal in his attractive office. It's on the first floor. So are the offices of the vice-principals, several directors, and senior sponsors.

Most people are surprised when they see how large the office really is.

Our principal, Mr. Anderson, and our school secretary, Miss Howe, are discussing extra-curricular plans with Roselyn Sue Reichert.

Let's see the other floors

ANOTHER ACTIVITY CENTER that we will find in this building is the Book Store in the basement. At the first of each semester, it is almost impossible to walk through the basement, because the lines are so long. Students can buy books, supplies, sports tickets, and many other school items here.

George E. Gill and John P. Price with Miss Betty Whitmas, secretary, comprise the Rehabilitation staff.

Waiting on students are Misses Dorothy Creech and June Wright, with Oliver Clark, Book Store manager.

Not connected with the school, but another part of this busy community, is the State Rehabilitation office, where counselors help disabled citizens find suitable occupations.

Sh-h-h, we're nearing the library. It's on the second floor. Quiet rules have been established for students and faculty who wish to study and concentrate. Altogether we have about fifteen thousand books and we subscribe to more than one hundred magazines.

On the south side is a memorial bookshelf which contains books that have been presented in memory of boys who made the supreme sacrifice, faculty and students, and relatives. Each week the librarians arrange new bulletin board displays and other exhibits that fit certain occasions.

Teachers have their own reading room which is attractively decorated and has lounging chairs.

The library staff arranged a special exhibit for the Home Economics Better Lunch Drive.

Mr. John White discussed carols at the Teachers' Discussion Group Christmas tea.

Up in the attic of Treadwell Hall is the R.O.T.C. indoor rifle range.

SEE THE LONG BUILDING to your right! Well, that's Treadwell Hall, built in 1921. It was called the Main Building until 1943 when Miss Esther Fay Shover, one of the original eight Tech teachers, proposed that it be rededicated in memory of Lieutenant-Colonel Treadwell, the first commandant.

Trophy cases in the entrance halls at either end of the building are filled to overflowing with cups and plaques our sports teams have won in athletic events.

Beyond Treadwell is the Barn, completed in 1869. Soldiers called it the "corrall." Yes, it really was used as a stable. Horse stalls were in the basement. The commandant's carriage was kept on the first floor. In 1916 the Barn was remodeled for classrooms. Music and agriculture classes are held there now. See the little greenhouse at the end of the building?

Soldiers even served as stable boys in the centered in the Gym and Stadium

WHEN THE GYM was built in 1929, it was dedicated three times: as a music hall, a theater, and a gymnasium. It boasts a pipe organ, bought with money earned by students and faculty, and the largest high school stage in the country. It is quite different from our first gym, "Splinter Hall," which was on the third floor of the Arsenal.

Our stadium, one of the largest and most complete in the state, rebuilt in 1939, seats eight thousand spectators. It is complete with press box, locker rooms, and storage space.

Football is king

HOW ABOUT A TRIP to the Gym for a little reminiscing with some of the coaches about this year's athletic season? Specializing in football, we find head coach Howard Longshore, assisted by Wayne Rhodes. In his first year as varsity mentor, Mr. Longshore took a decidedly underdog Greenclad eleven through to a surprising five-won and five-lost season. The Greenmen's losses were hard earned victories for the opposition, as final scores didn't always tell the tale of the Big Green's battle.

Tomorrow's heroes are being molded by George Mihal, reserve coach, and George Sprague and William Treichler, freshman mentors.

The reserves came plunging through their schedule with two games on the right side of the ledger and two on the wrong.

The frosh breezed by their opponents, coming out with a perfect slate for the season and the coveted City Freshman Football Crown.

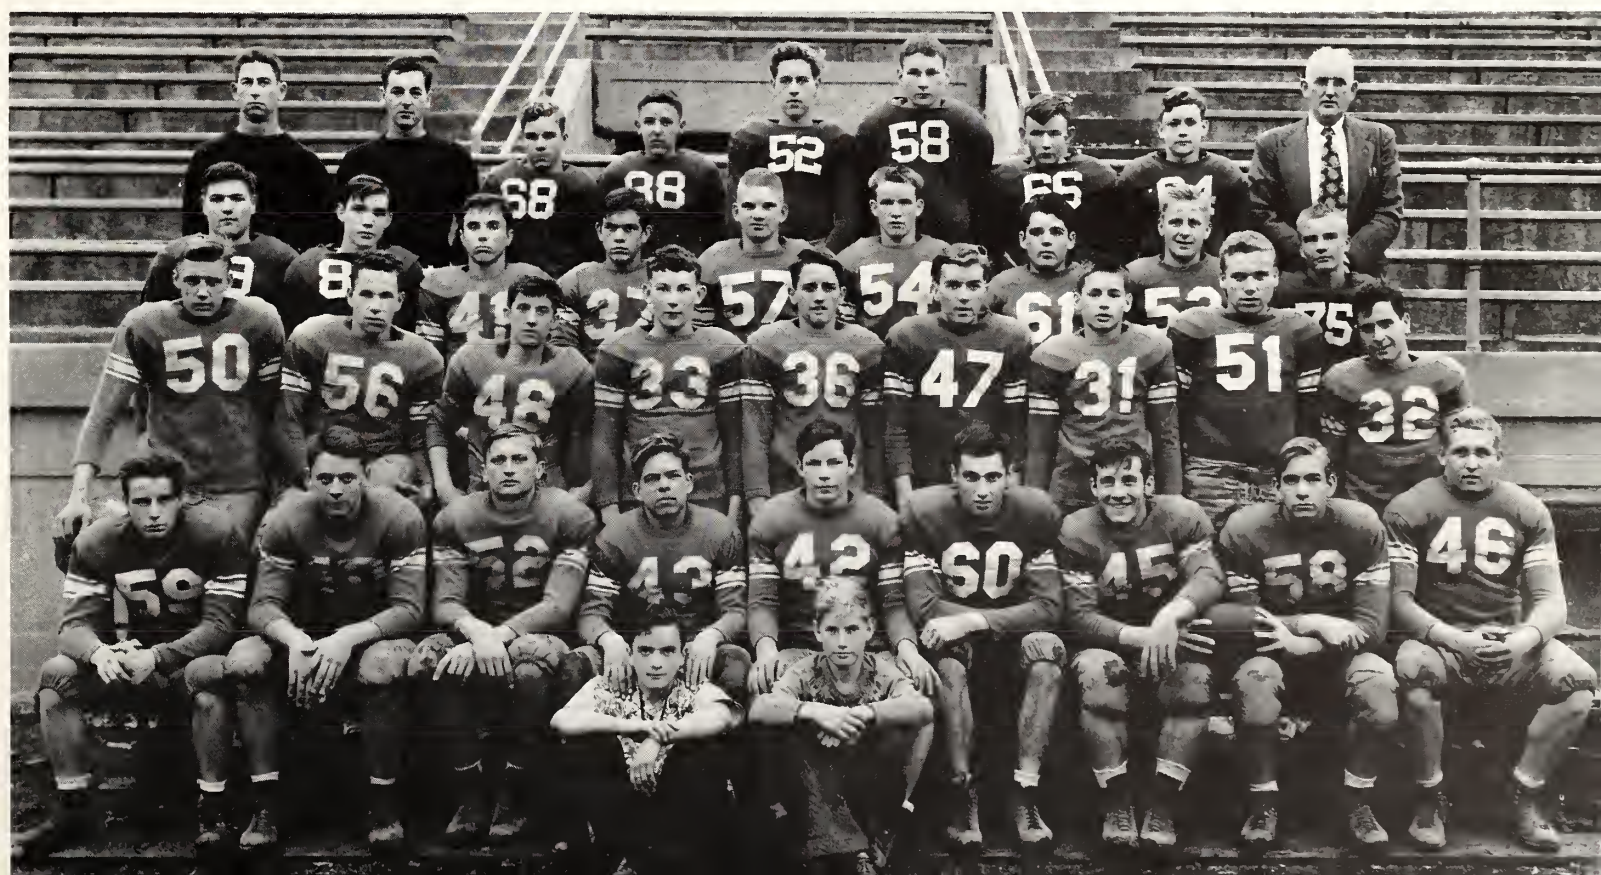

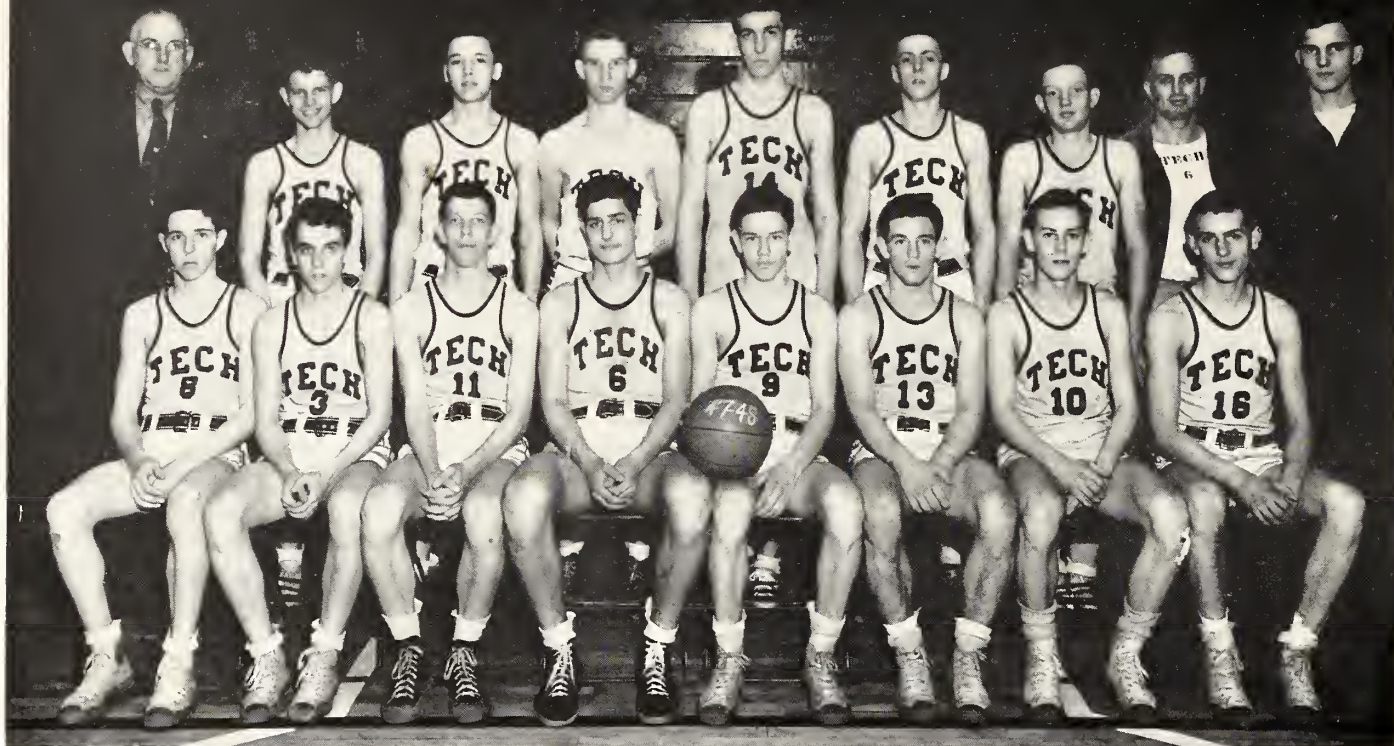

Meadors scores first touchdown of the season.

The player's the thing

NOW WE MOVE ON to the men who are specialists in that "Hoosier Hysteria," basketball. Piloting the varsity round-ballers is Herman Hinshaw, with Powell Moorhead coaching the reserves, and Harold Negley and George Mihal handling the freshman hoopsters.

The varsity netmen enjoyed a satisfying season, defeating such "big-wigs" as Richmond and Lafayette, and capturing 13 of 21 games, tournaments included.

In sectional competition, the Green Wave defeated the Silent Hoosiers in the first game; then the tourney was history as far as Tech was concerned. The Hinshaw-men lost to Crispus Attuck's 'Tigers in a second-round tilt.

Gordon King was selected on the Star's All-City team at guard; he also was second high-point man in the N.C.C. scoring race.

Under Coach Moorhead, the reserves, composed mostly of sophomores, blasted through their schedule of 16 games, winning 12. In city competition, the reserves lost only to the Howe Hornets, thus adding to their freshman crown, the Reserve City Diadem.

Those fellows, our freshie team, who are supposed to be green at the sport, were not so green as they came out on the long end of their season with a 7-to-4 record, defeating Warren Central, 34 to 17; Southport, 34 to 29; Howe, 26 to 21; Crispus Attucks,

When it comes to teams,

FOLLOW ME UP this little stairway by the stage and I'll show you where Coach William Treichler produced our first big wrestling squad—Room 401. Success came to this squad: Tech 35, Richmond 23; Tech 48, Anderson 10; Tech 30, Southport 28; Tech 34, Anderson 14; Tech 33, Southport 25; Tech 53, Shortridge 13; third place in the N.C.C. Meet;

Tech 41, Shortridge 17; eleventh place in the State Wrestling Meet; and Tech 51, Broad Ripple 3. The Ripple meet brought the season's dual standings to 8 won and 0 lost.

Let's go over for a little chat with the man who coached the par-busters to the State Golf Championship and to the Marion County Championship for

As if these honors weren't enough, the boys took first place in a meet at La Porte, defeating Hammond and La Porte; and in a meet at Bloomington placed second, bowing only to Howe.

Out this gym window you can see the cross country track. Under Coach Paul Myers the endurance boys took second place in the N.C.C. meet, and third place in both the Sectional and City meets. In season contests, the fellows defeated Anderson, Howe, and Shortridge, while losing to Richmond, Crispus Attucks, and Warren Central in a tri-school meet, and to Manual and Washington.

Spring sports reign supreme

IN THE SPRING a Techite's fancy not only turns to thoughts of love, but to spring sports.

Track, coached by Paul Myers; baseball, headed by George Sprague; golf, mentored by Earl Ensinger, and tennis, with Robert Belding, coach, grab Tech's spring Sportlight.

We have programs

IT'S REALLY A WONDERFUL sight to see our entire student body together at our all-school assemblies. Many of these programs are planned by and taken part in by our own students.

Most of the big events of the year take place in the Gymnasium: dances, class days, assemblies, and sports events.

During American Education Week we have exhibits from various departments, showing the outstanding work of their classes.

Students receiving honors throughout the year are given recognition at the Honor Day assembly.

Tech's first cafeteria was in the basement of the Barracks, in 1914.

When powder was stored here, neighborhood children would tiptoe by in fear.

Let's see the R. O. T. C. in the Barracks and Magazine

THE BARRACKS, which housed soldiers until 1903, and then the men who attended Winona Technical Institute, is used as R.O.T.C. headquarters.

Originally built in 1866 to store powder, the Magazine is now maintained as city headquarters for R.O.T.C. supplies. It is almost completely hidden by a man-made mound which is circled by lilac bushes.

R.O.T.C. Instructors Master Sergeant Delbert W. Nichley, Captain Clarence N. Doup, and Staff Sergeant Everett R. Burke display the newest pieces of equipment in their department.

We're proud of our R.O.T.C.

DID YOU KNOW that the "Arsenal Guards" were our first military organization? They carried wooden rifles and drilled in Woodruff Place. Then, in 1918 the Cadet Corps was organized. The training was compulsory.

In 1919 we had our first R.O.T.C. Unit. The boys wore horizon blue uniforms which they had to buy.

Today we have our drill field facing East Michigan Street. The old Barracks, back of Stuart Hall, are R.O.T.C. headquarters.

It's an impressive sight to see our R.O.T.C. boys in the Armistice and Army Day parades.

Mr. George Mitchell assists Colonel Chester A. Pruett, retired Army officer and head of the Tech unit for many years, who is Custodian of Military Supplies for the city schools with headquarters in the Powder Magazine.

Last spring at the annual inspection the Unit won its twenty-sixth consecutive honor rating.

This spring our crack rifle team won second place among high school units in the Second Army, in the 1947-1948 William Randolph Hearst National R.O.T.C. Rifle Competition. It was our third such victory.

Last fall the unit had a formal ball, even to a reception line, in the Gymnasium. April 28, the cadets held their annual father and son banquet in the lunchroom with a program, afterward, in the Forum. They used R.O.T.C. talent only for entertainment.

Here is Stuart Hall, our very newest building

COMPLETED IN 1935, it was named the Milo H. Stuart Memorial Hall in honor of Tech's founder and first principal, who guided this wonderful school through its first eighteen years of phenomenal growth. Isn't the tower beautiful? The floral traceries in the white stone panels depict Mr. Stuart's love of nature.

The little rooms on either side of the foyer are to contain memorabilia of Mr. Stuart. His portrait, the first desk he used at Tech, and his last desk as assistant superintendent are there now.

The playground for girls' physical education classes is south of the Shop Building.

This is our favorite building because of the student and faculty cafeterias.

Next are the Artillery and Shops

LET'S RUN ALONG with the crowd to the lunchroom in the Artillery Building. Oh, no! On second thought, Techites never run to lunch!

Built in 1869, since the founding of Tech this building has been used for vocational shops. Now, it also houses the two student lunchrooms, the faculty lunchroom, and the kitchens.

Just north are the Electrical Building, built in 1893, and the Annex, built in 1916, the first new building after Tech was founded.

In 1922, the new Shop Building was completed. Besides the shops, there are physics and chemistry laboratories, the powerhouse, and girls' physical education rooms.

Shops are interesting

MOST OF THE FELLOWS here at Tech at some time or other take a shop course. Everything from Airplane Mechanics to Auto Body and Fender Repair is offered. Many boys develop a hobby into a trade. Others, who take the four-period vocational course, receive excellent apprenticeship training.

A great many of the boys receive vocational certificates by taking two years of special shop plus other academic requirements. Many of them then go on and take two more years of shop if they have especially liked the first two years. Certificates are not only awarded in shop, but in the Agriculture, Art, Commercial, Home Economics, and Drafting departments as well.

Shop courses are divided into three parts: general shops, vocational shops, and special double period courses.

Either freshmen or upperclassmen may start out with elementary shop, but advanced classes are limited to juniors and seniors.

General shops are on a two-period, one-credit basis. They give a student a chance to include in his high school career some study of processes of industry and to find out his abilities and interests in these fields.

Vocational shops are based on a four-period, two-credit plan for boys who definitely want to prepare for a trade.

This coming fall the program of industrial courses will be reorganized to make an even greater contribution to the comprehensive objectives of the school.

Built in 1870 for the commandant, its impressive interior is unusual for a school.

The friendly little Guardhouse once was used for disobedient soldiers.

MILK BOTTLES on the back steps, a chicken coop in the yard, and blankets airing on the clothes line were familiar sights about the West Residence when the engineer of the newly founded Tech used it as his home. Now, the Publications offices and Social Service department are here.

The Guardhouse near the gate is used now for the custodians' office. When the Government occupied the grounds a guard was stationed at the gate to check everyone and everything that passed in and out of the grounds.

THE WEEKLY AND MAGAZINE staffs of the ARSENAL CANNON really work to get those issues out every Thursday and to finish the year-end magazine before the deadline. Plenty of fun is mixed in, however, and a staffite's life is never dull.

Journalism is a must for anyone desiring CANNON staff. It's a one-credit subject in the English department. Typists and business staff are exempted.

One semester and thirty issues after the "tender-foot" begins his CANNON career, he may be chosen to work on the year-end magazine, if the advisors feel that he is fitted for this work. price for the thirty weekly issues, doesn't have a stiff cover. That's where we got our subscription motto, "30 and 1."

In the fall, during the subscription campaign, an agent is elected from each sponsor room. These salesmen, selling subscriptions in their sponsor rooms, compete for awards. If an agent sells over fifty CANNONS, he receives a gold pin; other high-point agents receive silver and bronze pins, and award ribbons.

We have a News Bureau

SOME OF THE CANNON staff members who do especially good writing and are interested in journalism as a career are chosen to write Tech news for the three downtown papers. Three write news and three write sports. Many times News Bureau members are chosen to work as correspondents and public relations people after they enter college.

Journalism class is the first rung in the careers of Tech's young journalists. Here they acquire a "nose for news" and serve as cub reporters for the paper. From this first rung, they climb up the ladder until, who knows, they might be managing editors, some day!

For our commencement exercises, which are held at sunset in the stadium, we always have a student speaker.

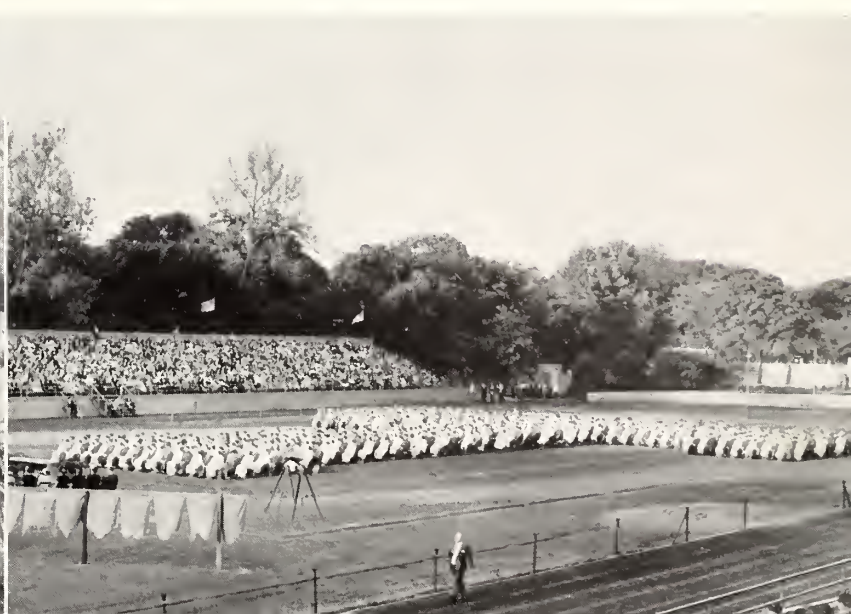

These boys and girls are my senior friends

MOST OF THE SENIORS have been here at Tectown for all four years though some have come from other high schools.

Our senior projects this year have been a courtesy campaign and a Senior Sacrifice Day. As our gift we voted to join last year's senior class in buying bronze memorial plaques bearing the names of the more than four hundred boys from Tech who gave their lives in World War II. These plaques will be placed on the east and west walls of the tower in Stuart Hall. Our senior play, "Dear Ruth," given in April, was a huge success.

Although we have January Senior Recognition exercises for those who have completed their course by the close of the first semester of their senior year, our real commencement exercises are in May in the stadium. It is really interesting to see how the graduating classes have grown through the years. Would you believe that in 1915 there were only 16 graduates? Of course, the school was only three years old. The next year there were 106; and in 1936, the class had 1,037 members. In this year's graduating class we have 898.

Bonnie and Chuck agree that
"Mom knows best!"

"Say, Bonnie, these sandwiches are tops! Who made 'em?"

"Why, Chuck, I did! Mom says, 'Kingan's brand of cold meats is the best.'—knew you'd like 'em! too, —so, I raided the ice box this a. m.!"
